Corporate History, Mission, & Philosophy

Lumpfish Solutions was originally founded in 1998 as a direct result to the regional demand for environmental and computer consulting for the wild Atlantic salmon restoration efforts in Eastern Maine. Clients found that the ability to provide spatial technology to a planning project and sharing the data via the Web greatly increased the awareness to this effort.

Then, our mission was to provide spatial technology to discover real-world solutions. Today, with the focus on GIS and graphic design, the mission remains the same:

To provide high quality, spatially correct and accurate representations of the client's world. To become the consultant of choice for print and digital media design. To provide personal attention to every project.

- Our clients are environmental engineering firms who need a flexible, professional and experienced GIS analyst to bring their project home under budget without having to go through the exhausting processes of hiring an employee.
- Our clients are municipalities who seek cost-effective solutions to improve their planning department's operations without having to hire an expensive firm.
- Our clients are consultants who lack GIS expertise but can handle all other aspects of a job.
- Our clients are non-profit organizations who cannot allocate finite budgets on a larger firm that provides resources they don't need.

Our business philosophy says it all: It is vital that the client receives the work product requested in a timely manner using the best of today's technology and personal attention as no two projects are exactly alike.

Lumpfish Solutions gives your business, organization or project the personal attention it deserves by uniquely providing a cross discipline between several services in geographic information systems (GIS), print design, Web consulting and technical writing. Our wide variety of services offered are as unique as our name. Contact us to find out what we can do for you.
